Bishop of Fort Wayne

Bishop Noll will long be remembered for his numerous achievements as the Bishop of Fort Wayne, but perhaps the one accomplishment which will be most influential on the Catholic laity of the diocese is his work in the field of the development of the diocesan Catholic High Schools. His plans at present call for new and improved high schools in South Bend, Michigan City, Gary, Whiting, and Hammond. At least one should be called the BISHOP NOLL HIGH SCHOOL in appreciation for his zealous labors.

Dedication

John J. Frawley

CC has given up its fourth faculty member to the armed service, and its third to the Chaplain's Corps. The Seniors of CC feel a personal obligation to Father Frawley, for he was a Senior English teacher since his arrival here in 1939. The crowning achievement of his teaching career was the introduction and development of the Legion of Mary, which during the past years has done such remarkable work under his guidance. We at CC, the faculty and student body, look forward to Father Frawley's return after the war, and God grant that it may be soon.

Table of Contents

Students, shouldn't we all "go over-hats" to the faculty? When we let down in our studies who was behind us pushing us back up? The parents and teachers they always looked out for us. Many were the times they went out of their way to help us, to guide us, to cause they were interested in us and our success in life, morally, mentally, and physically.

Yes, this is C.C. where we, the students obtained from the faculty an attention and interest unequalled in any other school.

Ray Pease "45"

Our Faculty

Take a group of freshy freshmen, add sophisticated sophomores, and a group of golly juniors. Glorify with sagacious seniors. Met well and let them make friends... sharing one another joys and sorrows... safeguarding the same principles.

Result - Central Catholic Student body.

Dyck's Bicker '45

Our Classmates

At first glance a disinterested bystander would brand this year's football and basketball season as "unsuccessful". After all the purpose of athletics is to teach sportsmanship and fair play as well as to develop the body. These qualities, coupled with the self-control and will to win that athletics teaches, have made this season a successful one, after all.

Sam Boylan '45

Our Teams

A great part of our school life is filled with participation in organizations. In these organizations one may develop leadership - that leadership which is most vital today to direct the minds and hearts of mankind from war and fire and destruction to peace and love and justice.

Georgia Ann Shaner "45"

Our Organizations

Most Rev. John G. Bennett, D.D.
Bishop of Lafayette

The students of CC and Fort Wayne feel justly proud that one of their former priests and deans has been elevated to the episcopacy. God grant that his labors may be long and fruitful.

Father Cross is not merely the pioneer priest of the new CC but he has also pioneered many of the developments found here. The formation of the Student Spiritual Council, the Latin Club, the Shamrock, and at present the progressive athletic and musical programs are due to his efforts. Father Cross is the favorite not only of the student body but also of the faculty.

Superintendent

Sister Mary Joan
Principal

Sister Mary Joan typifies the zeal and the work of all the Sisters who teach here at CC. She is pleasant, calm, industrious, just and kind to all the students. The energy and strain that is required of her and the other sisters to continue in their trying vocation year after year without any earthly reward and even student appreciation is a fitting sign of their zeal to train better Catholic boys and girls. Their one earthly reward is the knowledge that their work has not been in vain.

OUR FACULTY

I, with the other students of Central Catholic, wish to thank each and every individual member of the faculty who has strived so earnestly in the past year to promote the general welfare of the student body. Through their untiring efforts, many have found the coveted road to spiritual happiness.

Kathleen Rehner '47

They are the persons to whom we look when we're in trouble. Whether it happens to be that algebra grade or a more bothering us or a more personal problem, they're always ready to help. Their main purpose in life is to help us succeed spiritually, mentally, and physically.

Luc Perry ('45)

The students at C.C. are unusually fortunate in having teachers who are well versed in both the temporal and spiritual ideas of life. We owe to these sisters and fathers who have left their family life to study and teach for the love of almighty God a greater debt than we can ever pay.

Jim Voss '46

Although everyone appreciates the faculty members and their work, I think we could never find enough words to express our gratitude for their many sacrifices, bits of friendly advice, and patience in teaching us. We will just have to say thank you and God bless you for everything.

Theresa Bohman '48

Rev. Donald J. Muldoon

Every school day at CC is dedicated to Our Eucharistic King through the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. The student attendance at the Daily Mass is a testimony of their deep faith.

The Faculty Of CC Have Dedicated Their Lives To Trai

SISTER MARY NORMAN insists on precision, accnracy, and speed in her Typing II class.

SISTER MARY ANGELE believes in using records to aid in the teaching of Spanish.

FATHER FELTES is the efficient High School Treasurer and visiting teacher of Religion.

SISTER MARIE HILDEGARDE patiently explains the mysteries of trigonometry to the juniors and seniors.

SISTER MARY PHILIP makes frequent use of the maps to trace the development of the United States.

Catholic Youth In Their Duties To God And Country

SISTER MARY NEIL enjoys teaching her freshman English pupils.

FATHER VICHURAS and Father Gollner hope that these pictures end all further doubts as to the truth of their stories.

FATHER STAAB meditates on the problem of teaching physics to high school students.

SISTER CHARLOTTE has Sue Barnes give a blackboard demonstration of her knowledge of Latin sentence structure.

SISTER JOANELLA believes that practice makes perfect in her shorthand class.

English

Considering that four units of the sixteen required for graduation from Central Catholic must be merited through the English courses, the study of grammar and literature is evidently of great importance.

Before one can hope to speak fluently any foreign language, he must first have a fingertip knowledge of his own tongue. It is to this end that Central Catholic's English department strives to cultivate in its pupils a real understanding and appreciation for the most widely spoken language in the world—English.

Foreign Languages

From the day when the United States crawled out of its isolationist shell, and took its position as a world power, its citizens have been interested in speaking the languages of their neighbors. The advantage of learning such tongues in high school is obvious. Post-war travelling abroad will necessitate at least a small speaking vocabulary of native tongues. A moderate knowledge of Latin builds a foundation for nearly all of these. The importance of Spanish too, has increased greatly since the beginning of the Good Neighbor policy.

Mathematics

Living in what has frequently been called the mechanical age, the youth of today must develop his reasoning powers to the fullest of his ability. Probably no other subject is more of an aid in this direction than mathematics. At Central Catholic this subject is offered in the forms of algebra, advanced algebra, plane and solid geometry, and trigonometry. The mathematician holds that every problem has a solution, and he searches for that solution through the use of his reason. The study of math instills this principle in all who take an interest in it.

Science

Science instructors agree that the teaching of science in high schools brings about a better understanding of the human anatomy, and the things in the world which aid man in performing his life cycle. Biology, the first science offered at C.C., teaches young men and women to understand and protect their own bodies. Physics is a priceless help to the future artist of mechanical drawing, dealing as it does with such principles as those of motion and electricity. Aeronautics gives the air-minded student an outlet for his energies and ideas. Chemistry, invaluable both to warfare and medicine.

Social Studies

The social studies are extremely important in a school's curriculum. Sociology presents a picture of man in his dealings with his fellow men. Civics helps the student to understand the workings of a government with all its complex branches. Economics solves the problem of balancing a budget and managing finances. Ancient, modern, Lat. American, and U. S. History give the student a background of his country and ancestors, as well as the ability to appreciate the world's literature.

Commercial

Because many girls enter the field of stenography, a well-organized commercial department is essential to a school. Nearly every job open to the girl graduate requires a thorough knowledge of typing and usually some shorthand and bookkeeping. Boys, too, often need a working knowledge of such subjects in their business positions. Comptometry, a comparatively new commercial art, has also been taught this year.

Rev. Gilbert Wirtz—Varsity Coach, Rel. IV, H. & S.

Music

The charm of music is great, and the influence it exerts tremendous. Throughout the year, the students of Central Catholic have been proud of a band which is the best in the city, and an orchestra and glee club excelling any the school has ever known. With music raised to the level of a fully credited subject, students now have an opportunity to derive credit as well as enjoyment from membership in the school's organization. The trend toward a bigger and better music department, begun this year, gives promise of great things for the future.

Physical Education

A sound mind in a sound body.

Toward this goal, the physical education department aims all its efforts. Building strong, healthy bodies for future men and women is an arduous and painstaking task. The athletic division of a school receives little recognition in proportion to its actual worth. Seldom do the students who cheer the team at basketball games realize the tremendous amount of preparatory work connected with each play executed. Athletes are made—not born, and it takes training to make one.

CLASSES

This is C. C. — over 1200 individual personalities that make up the student body. This is the variety that spices the life of C. C. It accounts for the various attitudes about school and extra-curriculars that are so typical of every student. Only this could be Central Catholic. Joan Oberfell '45

C. C.'s students are educated to cope intelligently with the problems of life. Instructed in Religion, they prove to be good Christians, soldiers fighting for the cause of Christ. As Americans they represent Democracy in action. Leaders such as these will build the world of tomorrow. Hildegarda Hofacker '46

"Fighting Irish" we are called. As anyone with a quarter of an eye can see, we are not all Irish, but rather we possess courage. That courage we see all about us, on the basketball floor, in the class room, on the street, and early in the morning in our gym. It is typical of every C. C.'er. Bob Didrick '47

The spirit of cheerfulness, friendliness, and cooperativeness is the distinguishing mark of every C. C. student. By their cheerfulness, they easily make friends. Each student cooperates with his teachers and supports the school projects. This spirit is what I like best about the C. C. student body. Otto Bona-hoom '48

The faculty of CC is definitely aware of the fact that its students are to be the future Catholic leaders of this district. They are being trained not merely to live their faith, but to preach it by word and deed.

Senior Class History

Clutching my diploma, I walked down the stairs and thought to myself—this is the last time. I relived all the days to which this was the climax. It's not the big things you remember when the end is in sight; it's the little things, things like . . .

September 4, 1941. We opened the big doors with fearful hands and stepped inside to see what it was all about, this school they called Central Catholic. We committed the usual "Freshman sins"—forgetting locker combinations, wandering into the wrong classrooms—but gradually the newness wore off; we mastered the "x over y" and the "amo, I love—amas, you love." Already it was February, and after three wonderful days of retreat, we stood on the desks in 100 and sang "Mother Beloved" while Father Hugh Calkins played. We thrilled to our first state tournament, and joined the snake dance around the victory bonfire, when we won our third championship. We felt a lump in our throats as we watched the Baccalaureate services, and then . . .

We were sophomores. We chose Joe Haifley to lead us, and an able staff to assist him. We went wild when our gridiron heroes broke an age-old jinx by defeating North Side. Biology lab grew messier, and we shuddered at the fate of the poor frog. We roared at the Latin Club pep session, then sobered down to absorb Father Gartland's words of wisdom. We played on intramural teams, and were proud of our victories. Our eyes were suspiciously dewy when we bowed by one point to Hometown in our first year of I. H. S. A. A. competition. This year graduation seemed a little closer; many of our own friends were leaving. We watched them go, then left ourselves but only for a few short weeks until . . .

We were juniors. Again we elected Joe Haifley president of our class, little knowing that before the year was out he would be far away in the U. S. Navy. We attended the first annual football dance, and bought yarn dolls in our school colors. We welcomed back Big Bill Roberts, and cheered a great team on to victory. We sponsored our first class dance, and survived the severest stages of puppy love, hardly the worse for wear. We slaved through nine months of the most difficult studying we had ever known, then watched graduation ceremonies with a new feeling of nearness, and said to ourselves—this is it. And now . . .

We were seniors. It was fun to catch the little freshmen gazing at us in that hero-worshipping way. We didn't feel old and dignified, the way seniors were supposed to feel. We were a little scared to know that all the students looked to us for guidance and followed our example. We wanted our last to be our best, and we proved it by electing Ray Tobin as our capable president. We worked on the Shamrock, and were thrilled to see our names in print. We loved our "pig-skin toters" for giving us victories over both Central and North Side. We boosted Joe Gremaux to our football throne, and placed Don Ryan and Joe Parks on all city team. We fought to get a passing grade from Father Gollner and fought even harder to make his Civics Club. We burned our fingers and ruined our uniforms in Chemistry lab, and we grew immune to the "aromas" that the other students complained of. After much writhing and squirming, we survived the ordeal of graduation pictures, and waited in fearful expectancy for our proofs. We made the most of our last retreat, and mobbed Dressing Room No. 1 for Father Conroy's spiritual advice. We stayed behind a scrappy basketball team to see them defeat Central, and we paid slightly more than ceiling prices to attend our last state tournament. We heartily despised the Chamber of Commerce for forcing us to do weeks of research, but we congratulated Mary O'Connell on her winning entry. We temporarily put aside our books to choose Pat Grothouse as our prom queen. Tape measures told their story as figures on caps and gowns were compiled, and very trustingly we handed in our names for diplomas. As one after another of our boys left for the armed forces, our class took on a "for women only" appearance, and the girls looked around for new interests. Graduation practice was pleasantly interrupted by our Senior Prom, a beautiful picture painted in pastels, a scene to remember long. As graduation day drew nearer, everything we enjoyed was shadowed by the thought—this is the last time, the last game, the last dance. And then . . .

A gentle nudge woke me from my dreams, and I joined my classmates walking slowly down the aisle. Congratulations were shouted, and hands extended, but I could scarcely see them. I wasn't ashamed of the tears in my eyes. I couldn't offer apologies or excuses for there were none. This long awaited day held little triumph for me. I looked once more at every dearly familiar object in view, and then left you forever . . . my school . . . Central Catholic.

Junior Class History

You can always tell a junior by his warm and friendly smile.

So runs the old adage, and the class of '46 have proved to all and sundry that they merit their description. This class, well-represented in all fields—scholastic, athletic, musical, and extra-curricular—opened the year by choosing capable officers. Those juniors who assisted their officers on the Student Council were: Jean Suelzer, Jack Tourney, and Dean Franke.

Helping the Mission Unit to complete a most successful year were: Ann Marie Brug, Connie Racht, Patricia Yaste, Joellen McDonald, Mary Lou Suelzer, and Bob Lauer.

Spreading devotion to the Blessed Virgin the following juniors were members of the Legion of Mary: Joan Daley, Mary Bennett, Colleen Donahue, Don Freiburger, Lois Hipkind, Georgiann Jaeger, Dorothy Rauner.

Those juniors who served on the Student Spiritual Council were: Joan Daley, Ruth McDonald, Jim Raupfer, Pat Berghoff, Colleen Burgard, Theresa Urbine.

Developing their literary talents, the following juniors served on the Shamrock Staff: Joellen McDonald, Delores Fabian, Virginia Hilker, Mary Jane Wood.

Adding music to their many activities the following juniors were members of the band: Jack Bender, Gerald Fox, Theresa Hartman, Don Freiburger, Bernard Hatfield, Madonna Kaade, Jim Klopfenstein, Tim McCann, Gene Till, and Charles Trapp.

Those playing in the orchestra were: Madonna Kaade, Donald Ehinger, Donald Davis, Mary Helen Lewis, Jack Bender, Gene Till, Charles Trapp, and Don Freiburger. The latter was president of both band and orchestra.

Juniors who participated in Glee Club programs were: Mary Anderson, Phyllis Carteaux, Delores Fabian, Virginia Geoffrey, Hildegard Hofacker, Delores Jordan, Madonna Jordan, Patricia Kintz, Patricia Laughlin, Margaret Momper, Margaret Murphy, Joellen McDonald, Margaret Nieb, Dan Anderson, Gerald Fox, William Spelman, Gene Till.

Not to be outdone in the athletic field the following juniors came out for football: Jack Hilker, Frank Weaver, Leo Jehl, Don Canfield, Eugene Henry, Robert Glasper, Greg Sult, Paul Meehan, Ray Wolf.

Promising big things for the future on the basketball court were: Dan Anderson, Jack Tourney, Herb Huguenard, Dick Plumb, Maurice Hebb, Leo Jehl, Dan Canfield, Robert Didion, Art Heintzelman, Greg Sult, Eugene Henry, Ray Fabian, William Berghoff.

Departing seniors graduate with a feeling of confidence in their school's future, if they know that the class which succeeds them will carry on the principles they have stood for. The class of '45 leaves the portals of Central Catholic with a firm conviction that the class of '46 will prove their worth when called upon to fill the role of seniors.

Sophomore Class History

Relinquishing their title of underclassmen, the class of '47 have throughout the year proved themselves capable of stepping into their new role as juniors.

A class which excels in all activities is a stellar class indeed. Spiritually the sophomores were both zealous and successful. Those who were active with the Spiritual Council were: Louis Jacquay, Molly Keane, Bill Schimmele, Alberta Rorick, Robert Voorhees, Marie Hogan, David Obergfell, Mary Ann Clifford.

The Missions Unit depended on the help of the following sophs to maintain their splendid record: Jim Simonis, Leon Horstman, Bob Johnson, Patty Hughes, Theresa Ryan, Alice Horn, Paul Ryan, Gervase Herman.

In the scholastic field special mention is due Marita Meyer, who won the sophomore essay award in the Chamber of Commerce contest.

Helping their officers and the other members of the Student Council were the following: John Morrell, Sue Miller, Phyllis Grothouse, Helen Colchin, Mary Ann Clifford, Robert Loraine.

The music programs which entertained the students throughout the year were staged in part by a number of sophomores. Those who were members of the band were: Thomas Blee, Lloyd Bracht, William Fadus, Jay Fisher, Joan Gillieron, Jack Hile, Jerry O'Morrow, Bob Koch.

Adding to the numbers of the orchestra were: David Klingenberg, Theresa Till, Phyllis Seculoff, Ann Marie Voirol, Pat Hoffman.

The following sophomores held membership in the Glee Club: Susan Ankenbruck, Patricia Beerman, Marilyn Bender, Phyllis Brown, Phyllis Castle, Joan Chamberlin, Mary Ann Clifford, Donna DeCamp, Eythe Didier, Rosemary Ernst, Donna Grimmer, Marilyn Haffner, Molly Keane, Mary Alice Keckley, Rita Klingenberg, Carol Leuenberger, Rita Mommer, Georgia Momper, Alice Morkin, Ruth Sanders, Margaret Schafer, Estella Schindler, Patricia Shippen, Dolores Timme, Ernestine Wald, Melvin Scherer, Donald Weingartner, John Zimmer, Jackie Shaw, Helen Marie Wunderlin.

Sports play a big part in the life of every student. The sophomores showed their grit and stamina by turning out in numbers for the teams. Proof of their prowess is given by the fact that several saw action in varsity games. The stalwart footballers were: Donald Creigh, William Erhman, Thomas Avila, John Carp, Robert Didier, Ed Gillie, Robert Klingenberg, Thomas Logan, Jerry Lawlor.

Those who performed on the hardwood were: Robert Didier, Leon Horstman, Eugene Wagner, Tom Logan, Bob Johnson, George Mudrack, Tom Mungovan.

The word sophomore means "Wise fool." The class of '47 have lived up to the first part of their title, but their actions belie the remainder of it. Wise indeed are these sophomores who have set a shining example to their fellow C.C.-ers and thus earned the respect of the entire school. Keep it up, class of '47. The class of '45 salute you as real "up-and-comers."

Freshman Class History

The class of '48 has advanced a long way since that day in September 1944, when some three hundred fifty students opened the doors of C.C. as freshmen. They were pretty confused then, but during the course of the year they have proved their mettle by leading the school, scholastically and otherwise.

Besides the class officers, the other freshman members of the Student Council were: Giora Reyer, Bill Poinssatte, Rita Getty, Jack Donovan.

Operating successfully in the Mission Unit were: Bill Poinssatte, Joan Kramer, Rita Ottenweller, Marilyn Mattes, John Straub, Dick Blume, Carolyn Kutner, Steve Glassley.

Those freshmen who served as Spiritual Council members were: Thomas Murphy, Leonard Higgins, Joanne Lennert, Marie Ann Morris, Margaret Bougher, Agnes Meyer, Richard Slaton, Joan Gustafson.

In the field of music the freshmen can boast the only organization whose membership is restricted to one class. Those boys and girls who sang with the Freshman Glee Club were: Richard Blume, Otto Bonahoom, Thomas Field, Peter Figert, Robert Helmkamp, Robert Jacquay, Jack Keane, Robert Marquart, Don Steinburger, Elmer Wunderlin, Kenneth Wunderlin, Carroll Abbott, Marjorie Adams, Barbara Berg, Sharon Blackwell, Joan Boschet, Doris Mae Connett, Dolores Dennis, Joan Detweiler, Rachel Filippo, Eleanor Freiburger, Carolyn Glaser, Joan Gustafson, Joan Hartman, Agnes Herber, Mary Lou Hinen, Joanne Hoelle, Kathleen Kelly, Theresa Kohrman, Carol Krull, Carole Landis, Eileen Meyer, Geraldine Mommer, Carole Mourey, Germaine Mueller, Joan Nommey, Patricia O'Connor, Patricia Potosky, Mary Ann Ripberger, Phyllis Richards, Joan Roy, Joan Schmidt, Violet Schnieders, Evelyn Shirey, Mary Ann Steckbeck, Jean Strebig, Mary Lou Swank, Alice Uecker, Georgian Vachon, Dorothy Van Walt, Charlene Von Behren, Dorothy Wade.

Freshmen who played in the orchestra were: Jacky Hoffman, Thomas Conboy, Charles Kocks, Catherine Marie Vastano, Betty Wyss, Alice Sohaski, William Walker, Carroll Abbott, Virginia Stockely, Patricia Thompson.

Small but mighty the freshman football team formed a potent aggregation. Those boys who played on the team were: Thomas Jehl, Richard Devine, Otto Bonahoom, James Beck, Thomas Doyle, John Caccamo, Donald Hipkind, Jerry Hyde, Richard Hege, Ronald Jasper, Joseph Westendorf, James Gladieux, Sam Talarico, Bob Elder, Robert Waltke, Terry Logan. Talarico and Elder saw varsity action.

Giving the school a basketball team to expect big things from in the future were: Thomas Jehl, James Purviance, Terry Logan, Charles Kocks, Sam Talarico, James Beck, Jack Donovan, Jerry Hyde, Robert Waltke, Kenneth Huguenard, James Gladieux, Thomas Doyle, Richard Fenker, John Caccamo, Dan Clemens, Robert Wiegand.

Because they understand the strangeness that a high school holds for new students, seniors adopt a protective attitude toward freshmen. It is only when those freshmen have become a real part of their school that the upperclassmen count them as comrades rather than as proteges. The class of '48 has merited that right, and we of '45 are proud to wish them every future success.

ATHLETICS

Getting off to a rather poor start, with a green and inexperienced team, C.C. finally started clicking at the end of the football season. In the latter part of the season C.C. bowled over two old rivals, Central and North side.

With a whole team of experienced players back next year, we expect and are looking forward to a great season.

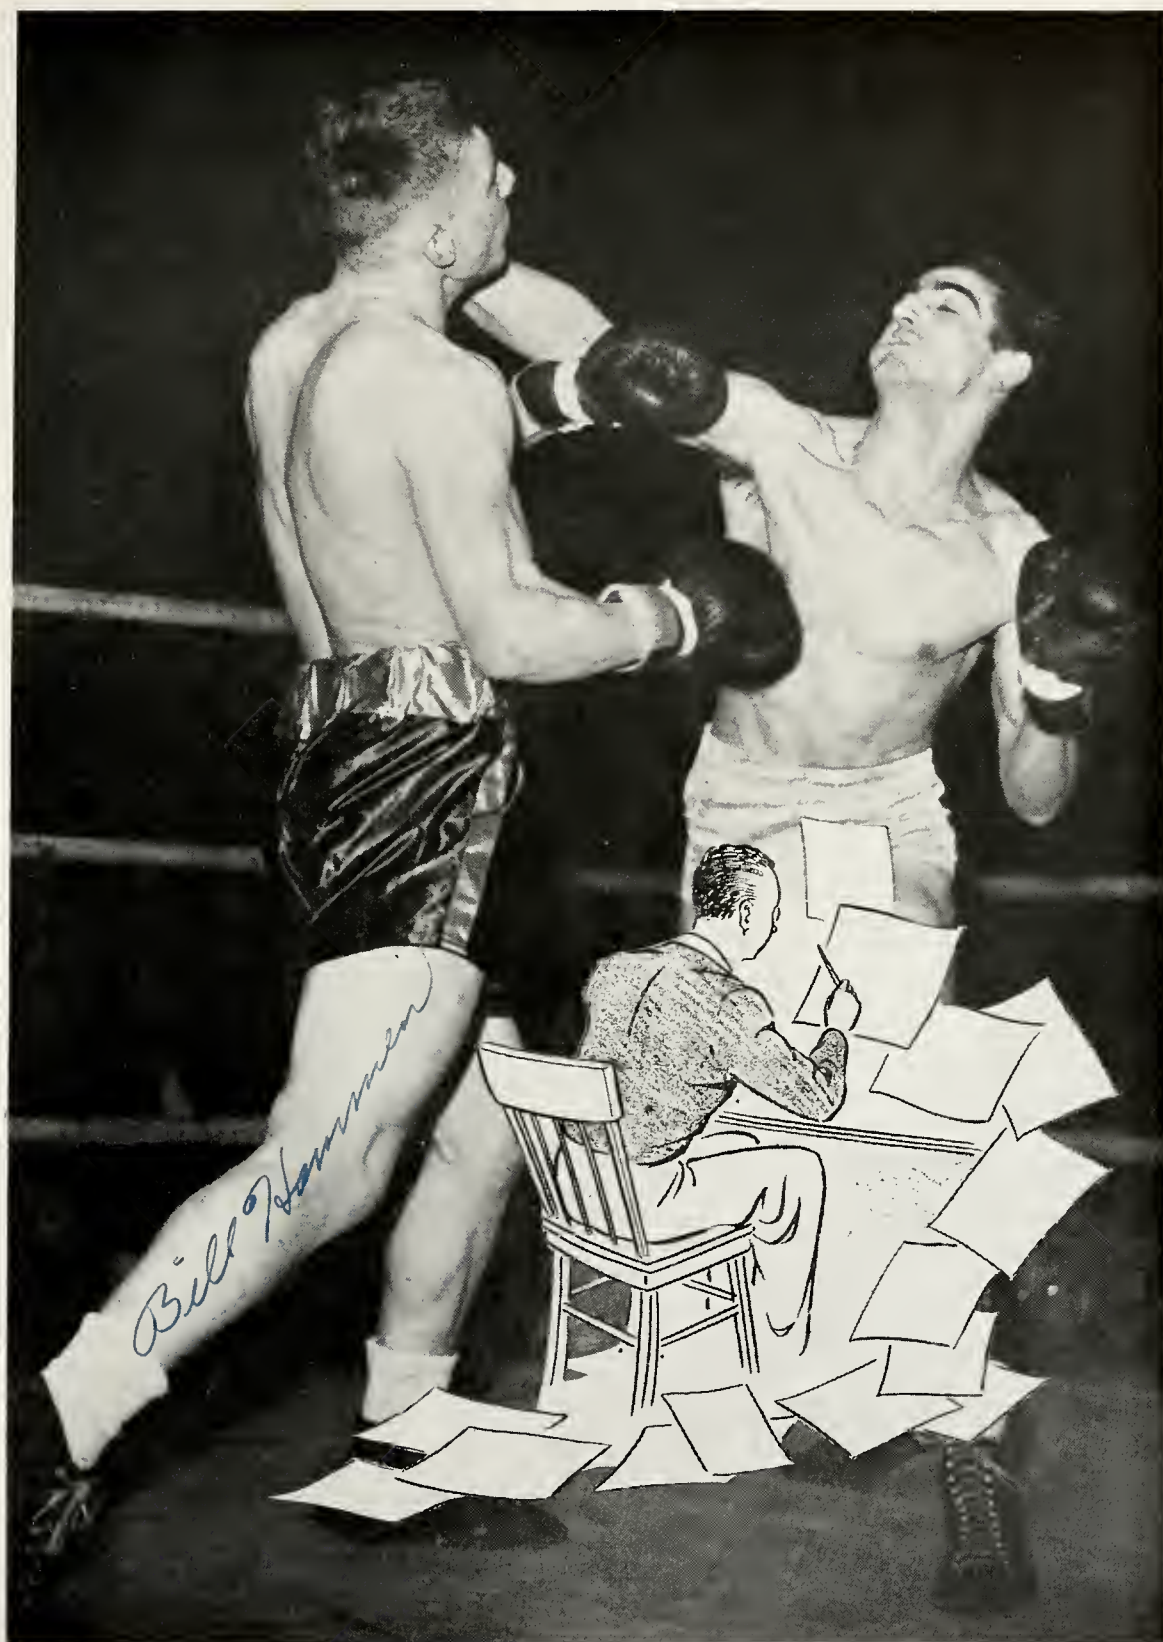

The basketball team has shown signs of improvement also, and should really be ready to go next season.
Dick Means '45

The Girls Athletic Association is one of the outstanding sport clubs at Central Catholic. It offers a chance for the girls to "let down their hair" and join in their favorite sports, such as; volleyball, basketball, tumbling, or whatever it may be. The G.A.A. helps keep C.C.'s athletic program on top. Pat Yaste '46

One of the many things I like about our athletic program is the Intramural games. Boys and girls alike are given a chance to play. All those who don't play have a good and exciting time watching. These games play a part in every C.C. student's life.

J. Pyllis Prohouse

Central Catholic offers sports for everyone, boys and girls alike. For the boys varsity football and basketball, and those not of varsity caliber are offered intramurals. For the girls there is the G.A.A. Central Catholic gives I think a fair chance in the athletic field. Alan Clemens '48

CC took it on the chin in athletic competition this year, but we were never knocked out. We showed them that we could lose gracefully, but we will be back again next fall to demonstrate that CC teams can also win like true Catholic gentlemen.

Coaches

"Peanuts" Graf

Dick Schmitt

FATHER WIRTZ

Heading the coaching staff of Central Catholic is the Reverend Gilbert G. Wirtz. His outstanding record as a coach and teacher shows up in his excellent effort to make C.C. a well known athletic school. In his first year as coach, he has proven worthy of the job. He undertakes it with his characteristic smile. That smile is well known to all the students and the parents who have the fortune of knowing him.

His constant effort to obtain good schedules for the school recommended him for this new position when the former coach was called into the army. Facing the job of taking over in the middle of a season, he showed his capabilities as a coach. Losing a heart-breaking game to the South Side cagers in last year's sectionals, he came back for a better year with bigger hopes and expectations. Football, meaning just as much to him as basketball, is another of his fine records.

MR. SCOTT

The most important figure in freshman sports is the small but powerful, little man who coaches the freshman football and intramural teams. His record as football coach for them is a very good one. The team won three games, lost one, and tied one. These games were all with other freshman teams in city high schools. Looking over his record, one must admit that he has served C.C. in good style for his first year here.

MR. FRANKE

One of the brains behind Father Wirtz is the able Mr. Franke. He has given Father Wirtz much help in coaching the varsity basketball team. This was not all he handled, for he was also the coach of the reserve basketball squad. He coached the reserves through the season losing but eight while winning ten tilts, which is not a bad record. In future years the fans of C.C. look for better teams, reserve and varsity both, through the able assistance of this coach.

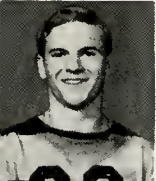

MR. "CHUB" GRAF

One of the stars of the old C.C. is now at the new C.C. trying to make the Irishmen tougher and better than ever before. His aims are high, but he has almost reached them. He was the brain behind Father Wirtz in the gridiron season. His job was mostly to break in the new recruits for the team and to make them good, tough players for the head coach. As one may judge, this was no easy task for one man. But Mr. Graf tackled it and really turned out good results.

The Football Season

Although hit hard by graduation, this year's team showed a surprising drive and determination on the gridiron.

Sure, they made mistakes, a few costly ones perhaps, but they never made the same mistake twice. Ask those who know—the opponents.

Building a comparatively new team into a well-balanced and seasoned squad is no easy task, but Coach Father Gilbert G. Wirtz and his assistant Michael Scott came through with a formidable team after losing the first four starts.

This was emphasized by the fact that the "Irish" turned back the Central "Tigers" in their first encounter and played a tie in their second meeting. These games proved heart-warming to the Purple and Gold rooters, who have been cheering desperately for an Irish victory over their arch-rivals for many a year.

The Irish reached their peak in the last game of the season when they revenged an earlier setback with a victory over the North Side Redskins. This game was deemed an upset by the sports writers but statistics proved that the Irish really out-played and out-fought their more experienced city foe. With five minutes left in the final quarter, the third and fourth teams were sent in to finish the game.

Another high-light during the football season was the selection of Joe "Zulu" Gremaux to reign as C.C.'s Gridiron King. The election was held at the annual football dance and was greeted with the approval of all. Don Ryan and Joe Parks placed second and third respectively.

The All-City selection placed Joe Parks, Ray Wolf, Don Ryan, Bob Lynch, and Huey Henry on their squads.

C.C.'s outlook for next year's season is bright since there will be about forty returning players from this season's team. The Freshman-Sophomore team, which was under the direction of Michael Scott, will play heavily in the contribution to fill in the vacancies left by this year's squad.

The Basketball Season

Due credit must be given to Coach Father Gilbert G. Wirtz and his assistants, Abe Franke and Michael Scott, for the development of this year's varsity. Although the Purple didn't prove too consistent a winner, coming out on top in only five regular season games, they showed such zeal on the court that they were a constant threat to all opponents. They played the game for all its worth and continually gave the fans a run for their money.

What is more remarkable is the fact that there was not one returning letterman on the squad. Each player was given an equal chance for a first string position and the wide open race resulted in a constant change in the starting line-up of the varsity.

In the first city series game, the Purple and Gold came back from a 13 point deficit in the first half to within one point of victory over the North Side Redskins. The Irish showed such spirit that they almost pulled the game out of the fire and had the fans in a constant state of excitement during the closing seconds.

Another high-light on the season's card was the game played against the Tigers from Central High. This was a wide-open affair that saw the Irish stave off a late Tiger rally and win by two points. A commendable feature in this game was the fact that it lengthened our consecutive victory string over Central in the athletic achievements of the season. It was the first time that Irish teams had been able to go through both their schedules without a defeat from the Tigers in either football or basketball.

The Reserve Team

Why do you think CC looks forward to a fine basketball season next year? Look at the record of the Reserve team. They won ten while only losing eight. Of course, the newspapers seldom carry write-ups on the reserve games, but CC was keeping a close watch on their performance. With the material that will be left on the varsity after graduation only slightly affected, and with players moving up from a seasoned reserve team to help plug the gaps, CC fans have reason to expect a different looking scoreboard next year.

When CC fans are inclined to lament the poor basketball season we had this past year, they are overlooking the very important fact that the coaches were plotting long range plans. You will recall having seen the freshman team in action playing along with the intramurals; you will remember seeing the reserves performing in the preliminaries before the feature games; and then you will notice that practically the entire varsity squad was composed of juniors. The coaches of CC are planning not one good team, but a successive number of champion teams. These preparations have taken time and we paid the price for them on this past year's scoreboard, but CC fans feel confident that it is going to take an awful good team to stop us next year.

The Monogram Club

Twenty-three boys were awarded athletic monograms for participating in varsity sports this past school year. We now pay tribute to some of those who fought so bravely for the glory of Central Catholic.

CARL BIESIADA '45—Football

As captain of the football team, Carl played in the backfield. He used plenty of power when smashing into the opponent's line. He is now serving in the U. S. Navy.

DON CANFIELD '46—Football and Basketball

Don was not merely a good football player, but also the flashiest player we had on the basketball floor. His floor work and under the basket shots were outstanding. Don should develop into a really good player next season.

BOB EHRMAN '45—Football

Besides being a dependable backfield man, Bob was also the team's hardest tackler. This accounted for his frequent injuries which put him on the bench. There were none that tried harder to win than Bob.

BOB GLASPER '46—Football

As the football team was being whipped into shape, it became obvious that our best quarterback was Bob. He showed clever field generalship in the Central and North Side games.

MAURICE HEBB '46—Basketball

Maurie was the work-horse of the '45 basketball team. The thing the stands admired most about him was his clean and aggressive type of play.

GENE HENRY '46—Football and Basketball

Gene is one of those players who gives everything he has in the game. He was not one of our stars this year, but he is shaping up into a fine athlete for next year.

HERB HUGUENARD '46—Basketball

Herb is a coach's player. It does not upset him to be corrected, and he faithfully carries out orders in a game. The stands liked him for his earnest, clean, and fine all-around game. Herb is one to watch next season.

BOB LYNCH '45—Football

"Silent Bob" seldom says very much, but when he has an assignment to perform, you can rest assured that it will be done. It was Bob's job to be a tackle. That is exactly what he did during the season.

ED MARTIN '45—Football

"Pepper" was one of those aggressive, shifty little halfbacks that brought the stands to their feet with his runs. We would like to have him around for another year.

PAUL MEEHAN '46—Football

Paul is one of the halfbacks who gave us something to look forward to this coming year. He made some sensational runs, but injuries cut his season too short.

JOE PARKS '45—Football

Joe held down one of those unglamorous positions on a football team that seldom hit the headlines. Publicity or no publicity, the opposing halfbacks found Joe a tough man to do business with.

LOUIS ROY '45—Basketball

This was Louie's first year on the varsity, but he did a fine job at the center position. He was the high point man for the CC team. We could use him again next year.

RAY TOBIN '45—Football

Ray was a player that loved the game. If he couldn't carry the ball, he would help the ball carriers from his tackle position. He was the jolliest member of the team.

DON RYAN '45—Football

Don was a heads-up tackler. He made our longest touchdown run of the season when he intercepted a Central pass and dashed 68 yards for a touchdown. He is too good a man to lose.

DICK WEAVER '45—Football

Dick raised a good sized beard to show that he was serious about winning. When the opponents began pulling that tuft, his halfbacks found milk-wagon holes to go through for the winning touchdowns.

JOE WINEBRENNER '45—Football

Joe held down the all-important position of center. Besides being a hard offensive man, Joe is credited with having made very few bad passes to the backfield.

RAY WOLF '46—Football

Ray has showed signs of becoming one of CC's best backfield men in years. He can run, kick, pass, and tackle. Our success on the gridiron next season will depend to a great extent on whether Ray will come up to our expectations.

Boys' Intramurals

CC is interested in giving every boy who wishes a chance to play basketball. Because of our limited facilities for both boys and girls, Father Cross made the necessary arrangements to permit the boys to play their games after school at the Fort Wayne Athletic Club. These games were supervised by Mr. Scott with the assistance of the Student Council. There were two games played every school day making it possible for each team to play at least once during the week.

The boys who play on the intramural teams were not permitted to play on any outside teams in accordance with IHSAA rulings. As a result of these conditions, practically every boy who cared, could get to play on his class team. The boys are divided into two leagues, the senior-junior league, and the freshman-sophomore league. After the completion of a regular schedule of games, a tournament is held to decide the winners of each league. These tournament games are played on the home floor before the student body. The ECHO regrets that it cannot record the winners of the tournament, since it was still in progress when the copy was sent to the printer. The two teams pictured above were leading in league play when the group pictures were taken.

Girls' Intramurals

Almost daily ardent fans and enthusiastic rooters filled the gym where the girls' intramural basketball games were played. Many skillful players and good sports resulted from these friendly yet hostile meetings.

Following the regular girls' basketball rules, they often show amazing skill. Joan Roy, Margaret Roeger, Joan Gillerion, Pat Hoffman, Ruth VonderHaar, Lucille Johnson, Mary Backer, and Pidgie Saxton are a few of the most outstanding players.

Each home room team composed of at least eight girls including the captain, played every other team in their respective year. Rooms 103, 305, and 315 led their classmates in brilliant, spirited play.

Each team playing at noon takes their turn to clean the gym bleachers.

Girls' Athletic

Thru '44 and '45

The G.A.A. was much alive.

Surging through a year filled with happy hikes, vivacious volleyball, rollicking roller-skating, and blissful basketball the Girls' Athletic Association has completed a pleasantly prosperous program. The officers of these sporty students are: president Mary Becker; vice-president Pidgie Saxton; secretary-treasurer Ruth VonderHaar; publicity manager Joellen McDonald; and point secretaries Gene Keller and Lucille Johnson.

Miss Julia Heighway, entering enthusiastically into each earnest enterprise, has fully fulfilled her toilsome task as moderator of these mirthful maids.

The merry monogram winners are Pat Yaste, Lillian Muldoon, Gene Keller, Mary Becker, Mary Lu Adang, Lucille Johnson, Ruth VonderHaar, Barbara Bonahoom, Joellen McDonald, and Pidgie Saxton. Each monogram represents 1500 points, and each point represents 15 minutes of active participation in some sport.

The G.A.A.'s first planned project was a 14-mile hike to the Muldoon farm south of Fort Wayne. Picture 116 girls gaily ambling down a country road toward some sunny spot—then picture 116 girls slowly stumbling back.

A few weeks rest and the joyful jills were vivaciously volleying a ball in the annual volleyball tournament. Playing in an exhibition game before a student assembly the junior team won the championship.

After an ideal Christmas vacation as far as ice-skating was concerned the girls returned to school full of skating party plans. Appointing Ruth Nichter chairman, the semi-annual event held Feb. 2, was a huge success both socially and financially.

In springtime the young maids' fancies turned to thoughts of the basketball tournament. Again the juniors placed first.

Another hike and skating party together with a pleasant ping-pong tournament completed the girls' athletic season. Now these "super-women" are looking forward to a little summer sport.

ORGANIZATIONS

For music-minded students the band, orchestra, and glee club offer sufficient opportunities to develop their aims. Organizations which wish to develop the student spiritually are also to be found at C.C. Such organizations are the Legion of Mary; the Shell Club; and the Veronica Guild. The clubs here at Central Catholic cover almost every desire of the student to develop his own initiative.

Bob Roller '45

"There are clubs in all the cities,
There are clubs from sea to sea,
But the clubs that really do things
Are the clubs here at C.C."

That expresses the general feelings of all toward the student clubs at C.C. They're too numerous to mention, but they are all working for one purpose — to strengthen the bonds of school spirit.

Jeann Suerfer '46

Students cannot really appreciate the importance of C.C. clubs and organizations unless he realizes what we would do without them. Imagine, no mission tag day, no dramatics club plays, no Shamrock, not even ball games. So give a hearty hand to all the clubs which make Central Catholic our school.

Steve Berg '47

Organizations and clubs are very numerous at our school. This makes it possible for every student to join at least one, if not more. Every student should be a member of some club or organization, because it shows that you have an interest in your school, schoolwork, and its activities.

The Student Spiritual Council

Christmas 1944 meant happiness to some 200 orphans at St. Vincent's Villa, through the tireless efforts of the Student Spiritual Council. C.C. Santa Clauses contributed generously to assist the Council in making the Yuletide season a joyous one for these luckless and deserving children. Earlier in the year the Spiritual Council presented a vocation program in which four students, dressed in religious garb, cited the purposes and workings of their respective orders.

The Veronica Guild

With the opening of the Faculty House in September 1942, a need arose for girls to care for altar linens and vestments. Calling themselves the Veronica Guild these girls, under their moderator, Sister Mary Ambrose, have become a recognized school organization. The work of the Guild has been divided into four parts: machine and hand sewing, laundering, and sacristan work. Nearly three hundred linens have been sewed and laundered during the past three years.

The Legion of Mary

Having long ago assumed a position of importance in the school, the Legion of Mary scorned to rest on its laurels, and this year added still more activities to its already crowded program. During the past year the Legionnaires provided servicemen with good reading material by distributing Catholic literature to the city's service centers. They gave mothers of small children the chance to attend Mass by taking care of the tots at St. Patrick's on Sunday mornings. They were brothers and sisters to the orphans they visited at St. Vincent's Villa.

The Shael Club

"I will bless every dwelling in which an image of My Heart shall be exposed and honored." On this generous promise the Shael Club bases its existence and its devotion to the Sacred Heart. The nature of its work is obvious from its very name, which stands for the "Sacred Heart and Enthronement League."

Aided and abetted by its helpmate, the Apostleship of Prayer, the club has succeeded in bringing to Central Catholic an appreciation and love for the Sacred Heart, and a desire for His care and patronage.

St. Francis Xavier Mission Unit

Having added several new projects to its already overflowing bag of activities, the Mission Unit ends another year with pardonable pride. Chief among these projects was the managing of concessions at the home football games during the regular season. Proceeds from this work, together with a weekly collection averaging nearly $100, enabled the Society to aid both home and foreign missions. Large donations were sent to Father Schnurr to assist him in his Chaplain's needs, while the Mission Group continued to be the sole support of the County Institution work.

The Volunteers

For more than two years the group consisting of singers: Pat Gremaux, Mary Anderson, and Colette Mohl; pianist Dick Goetz; and the more recently added server Jim McArdle, have assisted Father Vichuras in his parish work at the Irene Byron, State School, and County Infirmary. The Catholic Action of this small unit is little publicized, but it is greatly appreciated by the grateful parishioners.

Extra singers for evening Lenten services were: Joan Jacquay, Georgia Shaner, Barbara Bonahoom, Kathleen Orth, and Kathleen Schnieders.

The Apostleship of Prayer

The organization of the league consists of one representative from each homeroom and it is these members who are responsible for the monthly distribution of the League Leaflet. During Catholic Press month the Prayer Group sponsored a drive to place the Sacred Heart Messenger in every home. First degree membership in the Apostleship of Prayer may be attained by daily recitation of the morning offering; second degree by certain designated prayers; and third degree by offering, at least monthly, one Communion of reparation.

The Red Cross

The gift boxes which American Junior Red Cross members packed this year offered a rare opportunity to send boys and girls overseas not only toys and clothing, but also school and health supplies. Co-operating with a nation-wide movement, Central Catholic's chapter of the Junior Red Cross contributed educational gift boxes containing such materials as pencils, erasers, soap, combs, and several of the less complicated mathematical instruments. It is the purpose of the Junior Red Cross to see that the Johnnys and Susies of Europe receive these cherished treasures.

The Echo

Operating under extreme wartime difficulties, the 1945 ECHO staff has attempted to give the students of CC the best yearbook possible under the existing circumstances. The staff worked long and tirelessly to turn out an ECHO which the graduates of '45 could cherish for years, and which the underclassmen could fully enjoy and appreciate.

Under the guidance and supervision of Rev. Michael J. Vichuras, work on the ECHO began in October with the protographing of the undergraduates. The subscription drive in January far exceeded any previous subscription quotas. Immediately following this, the advertising and patron managers spent a busy two weeks bringing in the financial backbone of the year-book. From January to June there was never a dull moment; ask any staff member! Pictures were mounted, found to be a least bit crooked, and were patiently removed and done over. Persons to be consulted about articles were never where they should have been, and had to be tracked down through the entire school. Photographers, printers, cover makers, and binders kept reminding us, as the dead line drew near, that there was a war on with the resulting shortage of labor and supplies.

Never forgetting Father Vichuras' efforts to push the ECHO through on schedule, special commendation is due to Bernice Gebhart, the first girl editor of the ECHO, to Colette Mohl, for her unusually good and prompt write-ups, and to Mary Wurstner for her never tiring efforts to collect the necessary pictures.

Echo Representatives

It was decided this year to have room representatives, appointed by the teachers, to assist the ECHO Staff in contacting the student body in the drive for subscriptions, patrons, advertising, and pictures. As a whole, an unusually fine group of students were appointed to the task, and with few exceptions did their work conscientiously and accurately. This fact is evident when we realize that the student subscriptions were 1050 out of a student enrollment of 1250. Out of twenty-seven homerooms, twenty-two of them had a 100% subscription record. These twenty-two are: 300, 301, 302, 303, 304, 305, 311, 313, 314, 315, 208, 206, 101, 202, 200, 203, 104, 205, 105, and 201.

Another interesting feature of their work is that the financial returns on the patron and advertisement drives were 20% better than any previous year's record. There were six rooms which topped all the others in this field. They are as follows: 302, 305, 313, 104, 304, 315.

But above all, the best representatives which the ECHO has, are the homeroom teachers themselves. It is they who allow class interruptions to carry on the necessary business, it is they who in many cases personally assist the student representatives, it is they who encourage the students to co-operate with the Staff, and it is they who patiently bear up with the interruptions due to the taking of group photographs. The ECHO staff says, "Thank you, teachers and representatives."

The Shamrock

The part which the Catholic school paper plays in the national Catholic Press is an important one, however small it may seem to be. On such small units as the Central Catholic Shamrock the Catholic Press depends for its existence and practical influence. The high school paper is not merely a collection of bright columns and clever comments; it has a duty to provide its readers with material which will advance them both mentally and spiritually. Proof that the Shamrock is accomplishing this goal is the fact that it has won All-Catholic Honors from the Catholic School Press Association for the past two years, meriting its second award with a fifty point improvement over its first record.

The progress of the Shamrock from the time it is written to the time it rolls off the presses into waiting hands is an extremely interesting process. Several weeks before the day of publication the editor joins forces with her executive staff to plot the stories and features for the coming issue. With a definite plan formulated assignments are handed out to the staff reporters with the understanding that they be covered within an allotted time. At the same time the ad solicitors contact the city's various business houses to obtain the advertising copy for the paper.

As stories are handed in and checked they are turned over to the typists. These girls receive little publicity, but their assistance is absolutely essential. The typed copy is then sent to Our Sunday Visitor press where it is set in print and returned to the school. During a few busy hours, staff members under the direction of the make-up editor prepare a dummy copy from which the page proofs are made. After this final check-up the Shamrock goes to press, and in another day finished copies are counted into the hands of room representatives for distribution. The story of the Shamrock would hardly be complete without a tribute to those unsung heroes, the mailing staff, who see that the Shamrock going to your brother or friend bears the correct address.

Perhaps no time is so dreaded to the newspaperman as deadline day. It seems that no sooner is one "zero hour" taken care of than another is hovering with its demand for fast and furious writing. The press room bustles with activity, and cries of "who took my pencil?" or "what can I write about that game?" resound throughout. The page of student expression in the six-page editions of the Shamrock necessitated a great deal of extra work, but the heartening response of the student body was reward enough to the staff members involved.

For the first time this year a staff member, managing editor Bernice Spranger, broke into print when her feature story "Dreamers Highway" was published in Our Sunday Visitor.

The Student Council

Voicing popular opinion, and bringing about closer harmony between faculty and students, the Student Council closes its seventh year as the representative group of the school.

A side-line, but quite an important one, with the council this year was the sponsoring of war bond and stamp sales in the school. Successful in this, the Student Council fulfilled its obligation to those students of the past now serving in the armed forces by encouraging present C.C.-ers, to perform a very necessary civilian service—financing the war.

The War Bond Captains

With the absence of fathers, brothers, and loved ones leaving empty spaces in so many homes, C.C.-ers recognized the duty to do their share by buying all the bonds and stamps within their power. Student Council members assumed the title of Bond Captains, and conducted sales in each homeroom. Incidentally, the selling of bonds and stamps in the individual rooms, a new feature this year, was designed to make purchases more convenient for those patriots who put Central Catholic over in the Bond Drive.

The Science Club

Comprised of 30 members from the Chemistry, physics, and aeronautics classes, the Science Club has throughout the year encouraged scientific interest among high school students. At their monthly meetings the young scientists gave lectures and carried on demonstrations for the education and entertainment of the others. An exhibition in April gave the student body a chance to view the results of such interesting experiments as electroplating, molecular models, distillation of crude oil and others, performed or designed by club members.

The Writers' Club

The purpose of any journalistic club is to stimulate appreciation for fine writing, and to foster creative talent among gifted students. In addition to this general achievement the Central Catholic Writers' Club prepares interested underclassmen for a future berth on the Shamrock. Membership to the club is gained, as a rule, by contributing to the paper. Pledges are received as full-fledged members as soon as they have merited the necessary number of points.

The Spanish Club

With the United States and Latin America becoming yearly more and more interdependent, the Spanish tongue has assumed a position of ever-increasing importance. Many students must feel that Spanish will be of value to them in later life, if the growth of the Spanish Club is any indication.

After a strenuous initiation ceremony early in the year, the Club settled down to preparing a program to be presented for the Mothers' Club in May.

The Latin Club

Drawing to a close its fifth year of activity, the Latin Club looks back with pride upon its many accomplishments. Outstanding event of the year was the Roman banquet given early in December. Senior Latin students reigned as guests, while the newly initiated Junior members served and provided entertainment.

Rising interest in Latin is shown by the yearly increase of students continuing through their third and fourth years of this basic language.

The Library Staff

Of all the rooms at Central Catholic, each with its own fascination, there is perhaps none so appealing to students as the library. Under the able supervision of Sister Alphonsus the library has operated smoothly since the school first opened.

Visitors to the library will inevitably comment on its undefinable beauty and charm. The cool, restful atmosphere of this reading and reference room invites thoughtful studying. Students will use almost any excuse for the privilege of substituting the library for their regular study halls.

The Civics Club

Basing its membership upon scholastic achievement, the Civics Club, under the direction of Rev. Lawrence J. Gollner, has attained new prominence in the school during the past year. Bi-monthly meetings were held at the homes of the members, where young citizens discussed lively topics of civic interest such as lowering the voting age, and compulsory military education. The old adage about "all work and no play" has no application to the Civics Club for when the regularly scheduled debates were completed, club members had an opportunity to meet on a social basis.

The Honor Society

Because of the general opinion that some recognition should be given to seniors apart from the regular scholastic awards, a poll was taken this year among the senior class and teachers to determine what classmates they considered to be most representative. The result is a group of fifteen boys and girls headed by Bernice Spranger, who have been outstanding in both scholastic and extra-curricular activities during their four years at Central Catholic. The fact of the matter is that the greater number of this "honor society" are actually honor students.

The 21 Old Men

After graduation there is a tendency for friends, however close, to drift apart. In 1942 a group of boys said, "This mustn't happen to us," and presto!—the 21 Old Men! Its original membership increased to 34 boys, the Club continues to flourish as a semi-alumni organization designed to hold Central Catholic graduates together in pursuit of pleasure and companionship. In its more active days, the Club came to order monthly at the members' homes or in parish halls. Today, however, with the majority of the "Old Men" in service, meetings are necessarily few and far between.

The Dramatics Club

From America's earliest days when Priscilla said, "Speak for yourself, John Alden," American youth has felt the urge to dramatize himself and his surroundings. Indeed the desire to speak for oneself is the basis for the foundation of a Dramatic Club. While preparing boys and girls for future careers, a school must provide for them some means of expression, an outlet for their talents. In its annual two or three plays the Mask and Wig Club has fulfilled this requirement by uncovering and developing hidden talents to the point where they may benefit their owners.

"Growing Pains"

Headed by Jim Schaab and Pat Laughlin, the cast of "Growing Pains" gave a vivid interpretation of typical teen-age problems. The Dramatics Club's first venture of the year centered around George and Terry McIntyre, youngsters enjoying a social fling, while Professor McIntyre, portrayed by Tom Seculoff, wondered what the world was coming to, and Mother, Colleen Donahue, calmly understood and agreed with her offspring. Further credit is due the able supporting cast and the hard-working production staff headed by Joan Daley.

Our Band

"Of course it's good, and this is only the beginning."

Such a statement might well be applied to the Central Catholic Band, as it finds itself one step nearer to the lofty goal set up for it. Comprised this year of thirty-five members, the concert band visualizes a future membership of nearly one hundred musicians. Not only in size, but in quality as well, the band expects to show improvement with each succeeding year. It is only reasonable to conclude that boys and girls who have studied music since their entrance into grade school, will bring to the high school band a musical foundation which will eliminate the necessity for teaching fundamentals.

Ranging from martial to popular music, the band endeared itself to the student body this year as never before in its history. Even the other high school students were forced to sit up and take notice when the Irish music-makers broke into their ever popular "Auditorium Session." C.C.-ers proved their loyalty to the band, whose music had faithfully entertained them, by responding wholeheartedly to the Band Raffle which was conducted in March.

The man who has made so much of the band's success possible, Mr. Richard Guthier, is a native of Huntington and served as an instructor at New Haven High and South Side before accepting his position here. Largely through his efforts the band has assumed a position of real importance in the school.

As hosts to the 1945 State Music Contest, held in the school gym April 14, the band members had an opportunity to compare the styles of quite a sizable number of music organizations. Such contact is stimulating in that it invites self-criticism and a desire for improvement.

With future prospects which are almost dazzling in the light of previous accomplishments, the Central Catholic Band looks forward to the day when music will be the most important extra-curricular activity in the school. Many of the present members will not be on hand to view their triumph, but they draw consolation now from the certainty that the day is coming—and soon.

Our Orchestra

Completing its most successful and active year, the Central Catholic orchestra is planning even greater things for the future. The orchestra officially opened its program with a half-hour concert preceding the second lecture of the Catholic Evidence Series in November, and continued this process for all the lectures. Alternating with the band, the orchestra performed for one presentation of each of the Dramatic Club plays.

Not only in the school, but throughout the entire city the orchestra increased in prestige. Their presence was requested at the Businessmen's Dinner in January, and this appearance was followed by another at a U.S.O. dinner in February. During the year Father Cross received several generous donations for the orchestra's needs, sent anonymously by admirers of good music who recognized the marked improvement in this group.

A word of praise for the orchestra was given by a number of the clergy after the banquet which followed the Most Reverend John Bennett's consecration on January 10. One priest remarked that for a high school group, the young musicians played in a remarkably professional manner. Apparently the judges of the State Music Contest agreed, for the orchestra came through the April competition with flying colors, rendering two well chosen symphonic selections.

1944 marked the formation of a new organization, the Orpheus Club, composed of the younger orchestra members. This group topped a busy year by attending the performance of Hansel and Gretel given at the Shrine theatre on December 20. Sister Clement Marie, assistant director of the orchestra, is the moderator of the Orpheus Club.

The fine performances of the orchestra were partially due to a well-balanced instrumentation. The string section included thirteen violins, one viola, two cellos and a string bass. Other instruments contributing to the harmonious effect were, in addition to piano accompaniment, two trombones, two cornets, one oboe, two saxophones, one flute, two clarinets, and the tympani.

To Mr. Richard Guthier, its capable director, the orchestra owes much of its success. Taking talented raw material and developing it into a smoothly functioning organization is an old story with this competent and popular leader. The student body extends their thanks to him, as well as to Sister Clement Marie, and to the players themselves for giving Central Catholic an orchestra to enjoy and be proud of.

Our Glee Club

The book of the Constitution and rules, coupled with the dignity of the royal purple gown and gold satin stole, are two decisive movements toward the intensive development of the Glee Club. The Constitution embodies the rules and regulations which must be obeyed to become a standard member. Also it explains the receivable awards. The newly acquired gowns and stoles add to the Glee Club's position among the firmly established organizations in the music world.

Displaying the steadfastness which is true to the tradition of C.C. students, most of the members maneuvered five noon hours a week into their busy schedules. As recompense for this sacrifice of two additional periods a week, the Glee Club has advanced both in spirit and in meaning. The members more readily realize the wondrous gift God has given to man to sing His everlasting praises; the gift to lift mankind from the lowliness of earth to the splendor of heaven; the gift to express in song the ideas of man. In co-operation with this grace, the chorus has extracted, from otherwise meaningless songs, the expressions of joy, sorrow, prayer, love.

Highlighting the entire year was the magnificent rendition of the solemn "Te Deum" at the Consecration of Bishop Bennett in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. High praise and great compliments greeted the ears and hearts of the chorus from the lips of the ecclesiastics.

For the first time in the history of C.C. the National Catholic Music Educational Association held its Spring Festival here early in April. The C.C. Glee Club sang the solemn "Te Deum" at the close of Mass, which opened the National Contest.

Tribute to Sister Agnes must not be overlooked. She has proved her deep determination and gentle spirit in the promotion of the Glee Club to a firmly established position in the world of music.

Our Grade School Band System

Plan now for the future!

With these words our government is continually urging us to prepare today for tomorrow's needs. Following the same train of thought the music department of Central Catholic has extended its branches into the grade schools from which the talent of the future will be drawn. An intensified program of musical studies in the Catholic grade schools will continue to expand until it guarantees every parochial school child the chance to study music from his earliest years.

The program begun this year in the five largest grade schools—St. Peter's, St. Patrick's, Precious Blood, St. Jude's, and St. John's—proved to be a major success, and more than lived up to the expectations of the music director. "Tooting a horn" has always appealed to youngsters, but they are even more enthusiastic when they can combine the music of their own instrument with that of others to form really melodious sounds. A band builds upon that principle, and the sooner children learn the meaning of and the means to harmony, the better will be the organization that they form.

It can be done. The Band Festival which was presented in the gym May 3 gave ample proof that hard work on the part of both director and pupil can produce an organization which is worthy of their combined efforts. The individual numbers which each grade school band played were indicative of what may be expected when these young musicians have another year or two of study behind them. Within a comparatively few years they will comprise approximately ten per cent of the high school student body, and the Central Catholic Band will assume a membership which will have no equal in its kind throughout the city.

Too much credit cannot be given Mr. Guthier, who has given so much of his time and efforts to promote the success of the grade school project. With a knack for bringing out the best in his pupils, he has developed an idealistic venture into a smoothly functioning system, which promises much for tomorrow. By investing in a policy which pays dividends in providing a constant flow of fresh talent, the music department of Central Catholic is indeed planning for the future.

The Twirlers

Few but mighty the C.C. twirlers swing their batons for the last time this year, and look ahead to bigger and better programs in the future. Appearing on the floor for all home basketball games, the girls also took part in February's sectionals. Probably the most outstanding appearance of the year took place on January 20, when the twirlers performed in a minstrel show on the Hoosier Hop. Under the instruction of the more experienced girls, several interested students are learning the art, and will add to the prestige of the twirlers next year.

The Freshman Glee Club

The newest branch of the Music Department is the Freshman Glee Club. This group of thirty girls, under the supervision of Sister Mary Agnes, participated in two major programs this year. Their "Virgin's Slumber Song" was outstanding in the Christmas program for its many artistic effects. The girls also took part in the N.C.M.E. Spring Program in April.

The officers who led the group in such a fine start are Theresa Kohman, President; Geraldine Mommer, Vice President; Carroll Abbott, Secretary-Treasurer; Point Secretary, Joan Roy.

The Senior Prom

With the Senior Prom behind, only one thing remains—graduation. As graduates review the happy events of their last year at Central Catholic, the Prom stands out as a shining memory. To some of us June 1, 1945, meant our last prom. It was beautiful that night at the Athletic Club Ballroom. The lights, the music, the decorations—everything was perfect. When the drums began to roll we knew that the moment had arrived, and we stood back to watch Pat Grothouse, the queen we had chosen, take her place on the throne. The five attendants in their soft pastels made a picturesque setting, as the queen in traditional white surrendered her crown to the Blessed Mother.

We remember the lump that rose in our throats as the strains of the last dance died away, and we looked a lingering farewell at a milestone in our fast-fading high school careers. Afterwards there was the usual mad scramble for a place to eat. We stood in line for ages, I guess; time went so fast that night. And after we had devoured our hamburgers and cokes we piled back into the car—all eight of us. We had crushed formals and ruined corsages, but we didn't mind. This was prom night—our last prom.

The Cafeteria Staff

"Mother's little helpers" is a better title for the boys and girls who help "Ma" Seibert in the cafeteria. The fact that we have one of the finest high school cafeterias in town serving fine meals at reasonable costs is due to the help given Father Feltes and Mrs. Seibert by this group of hard working boys and girls. It is this group that helps serve breakfast in record time to enable the students to report on time in their homerooms, and it is this group also which keeps the cafeteria as clean as a "Dutch kitchen," making it a delightful place to have your meals.

The Concession Workers

Under the auspices of the Mission Society a group of willing boys and girls were organized this year to sell refreshments at our home football games. It is another one of those thankless jobs which means going to football games and missing all the best plays. This particular group were a fine bunch of salesmen who could sell ice-cold "Cokes" on the coldest days. They had a reason for their enthusiasm. The profits from their sales were going to the missions. With Joan Daley and Ben Louthan directing activities the Concession Workers made some hard pressed missionaries happy.

THE MUNICIPAL UTILITIES belong to you, the citizens and dividends resulting from their progress are accordingly returned to you. In addition to good service and low rates many other benefits flow to all the citizens. For instance, City Light contributions alone last year, including $250,000 cash to the Civil City taxes in 1945 and free lighting of streets, public buildings . . . recreation centers . . . parks, etc. . . . totaled a saving of $400,000 which means a reduction of $2.20 in taxes on every $1,000 of assessed valuation.
